CALM AFTER THE STORM.

Wall Street Settling Down Into the Usual Routine of Business.

The Failure of a Newark Savings Bank Made the Only Flurry Yesterday.

Russell Sage Paying His Losses Very Slowly Much to the Disgust of the Winners.

The Failed Firms Figuring Out Their Condition-The Worst Over.

NEW YORK, May 16,-The crowd of curlosity seekers was not large in Wall street this morning, and so far as outward appearance was concerned, things had resumed more of their every day look. Brokers generally came down town earlier than usual. and generally prepared for a day of brisk business. The offices of most of the failed firms were open and the members were on hand to receive their numerous were on manu to receive their numerous callers and answer, as well as they could, the many anxious inquiries made, but none of them had been able to figure out just how they stood, and consequently the answers given were necessarily of a vague and very unsatisfactory character. There was a large crowd about Russell Sage's office, and the demand for settlements of "puts" was so great as to keep the old man and all his clorks they stood, and consequently the answers

There were a few excited people among the crowd about this and other offices, who talked of a general panic, and their gossiping probably gave rise to a rumor which gained quite general circulation during the early hours that the stock exchange would be temporally closed. The idea was generally porarily closed. The idea was generally laughed at by thinking people, however, and later in the day it was set at rest by a semi-official aunouncement that such a thing had not been thought of by the governing com-

When the gong sounded business began without the least appearance of flurry. The galleries were well filled, many of the onlookers being elegantly dressed ladies. They saw but little more excitement than may be seen almost any day when the market is fairly active. fairly active.

The announcement of the failure of the Newark Savings bank created a momentary ripple, but it soon subsided. The representatives of foreign houses were buying liberally, and reports of money coming from the other side helped to give the market strength. There were no commercial bills in the There were no commercial bills in the market, and the weakness was attributed to the desire of bankers to market their exchange, in order to obtain money for loaning purposes at the high rates current. Seligman received notice that 1,000,000 frances had been shipped from Paris, and it was also reported that large sums had been sent from London for investment. A good deal of money also came over from Canada, to take advantage of the enormous advance in the loaning rate. Subtreasurer Acton reported early in the morning that $3,530,000 in legal tenders had been withdrawn yesterday. Nearly an equal amount was withdrawn to-day. This must materially strengthen the day. This must materially strengthen and bank reserves.

The meeting of the clearing house loan committee resulted in a decision to loan to the members of the association all the money they may require, at par, on pledge of government securities. This will, it is thought, belp materially to ease the prevailing stringency in money.

A visit to the various banks in Wall street and vicinity found matters progressing in the usual routine manner. The Bank of Commerce has not at any time been in the slight-est trouble and the officers of that institution indignatly denied that any rumors which may have been circulated had any foundation in fact. They were never behind in their clearances, and instead of a deficiency had a substantial balance in their favor.

At the Metropolitan hank business was

At the Metropolitan bank business was going on as before its temporary suspension, and Bank Examiner Scries reported to the comptroller of the currency that the institution "is doing nicely." The rest of the banks were running as usual, and affairs seemed to be again settling down to ante-bellum con-

The Vanderbilt brokers said their chief would reach London before Monday, and they expect to receive heavy orders from him to buy. He will find when he reaches land to buy. He will find when he reaches land that his stocks can be purchased at much lower figures than when he left them to the tender mercies of a thoroughly scared public. Business matters at the produce exchange had rather a gloomy look, although no fail were reported. Shippers' operations materially checked by the extreme ulty in selling sterling exchange.

At the petroleum exchange this morning prices broke 81, or from 731 at the close of yesterday, down to 65. There was some excitement, but prices of yesterday, down to 65. There was some excitement, but prices afterward recovered about 4, standing, at 12:15 p. m., at 60.
PITTSBUEG, PA., May 16.—The oil market opened feverish this morning at 77 and rapidly sold down to 675, when the decline was checked and the market rallied, closing firmer at that. The session was attended by great excitement, and every available space in the lobby and galleries was filled by anxious speciators. Trade was demornlized, anxious speciators. I rade was demorrhized, and for a time it seemed that every one had lost his head. Yesterday's heavy decline following that of Wednesday it was thought would result in a number of failures this morning, but the fears proved groundless as all sheets passed the clearing house, although many were said to have sustained serious

London, May 16.—The opening prices on the stock exchange this morning were some what lower than last night's closing prices. What lower than lass night's crosing prices. The slight relapse was caused by the advices of yesterday from New York in regard to the financial situation, and especially by the news of Fisk & Hatch's suspension. But shortly after the opening a general firmness began to appear. This was brought about by the boars seeking to cover their short sales, and by the purchasing of small investments.

J. F. Hawley has been on the stock board all the morning, arranging as best he could the various stock transactions under which the firm are liable. The fact that the transfer books of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad are opened to-day makes his task an onerous one, as the firm. has of late been dealing very heavily in Atchison securities, and therefore have many transfers to make. It will be several days before the exact status of the firm's affairs can be learned, but its resumption of business is known to be impos-

RUSSELL SAGE'S LITTLE GAME.

The Millionaire Privilege Dealer Taking

His Own Time in Making Settlements. NEW YORK, May 16 .- Russell Sage, the great dealer in "privileges," has set his own pace in the settlement of his outstanding contracts to take stocks, and he will not be moved into a faster gait. A line of brokers, messenger boys, and others gathered around his office in Broadway this morning and clamored for admittance. The services of two policemen were required to keep the peace, for as one by one the holders of privilegus were admitted within the well-guarded portals the excitement and impatience of the emainder increased.

It is openly charged that Mr. Sage is de-laying the process of settling as long as, possible in order to compel weak speculators who hold his privileges, and are in urgent need of money, to compromise at a discount. The allegation is that his brokers are going about quietly buying his outstanding privi-leges at a per cent. of leges at a per cent, oil.

Mr. Sago claims that he is making settlements as fast as his clerks can figure up the accounts of his customers, but if this be true then he must have a corps of blacksmiths for accountants, judgingfrom the deliberation manifested. Contrary to his usual custom, he refused to take any stocks on privileges, preferring instead to make settlements by giving his checks for the differences that is, instead of paying his checks for the differences that is, instead of paying for the stock in full he gives holders of his "puts" the profits accraing on the transactions. Of course this saves him from paying out a large amount of monoy, but his action will compel brokers to sell the stock which they have bought, expecting that the millionate privilege broker would millionaire privilege broker would,

The action of Mr. Sage in settling at a dis-count was denounced at the produce exchange as an outrage, and it was said that although the tock exchange did not recognize dealing in privileges, yet members of the exchange were required to have an office where they could be found during business hours, and this could not be said to be the case with Mr.

Russell Sage stated to Jay Gould to-night that he has settled more than three-quarters of his "puts," and that he will continue set-tling up as fast as his clerical force can figure

Every one had a word to say about Russell Every one had a word to say about Russell Sage, but no one seemed to doubt his ability to fulfill all his engagements.

"He's been keeping back his money to reap the big interest being paid," said one. Another thought that he ran his office too economically, and had not enough clorks to transact his business when the rush came.

When Mr. Sage was informed of the comments passed upon his course he said:

If these fledglings knew their own interests they would leave the man slone whose money has kept them agoing, and it seems to noe that all the wisdom they waste on my afters might be appropriately spent on keeping themselves out of a hole. I haven't taken any usurious interest, and don't intend to, and I've transacted my business to-day just as I always have done and always will do. I suppose there will be a rew little explosions to-morrow, but if Fisk & Hatch hadn't gove down we would have had a quite Sunday and a happy Monday. Fisk & Hatch have never recovered from the fatal mistaks they made when they paid 100 cents on the dollar after '73.

NEW YORK, May 16 .- Cyrus W. ### A NEWARK BANK CLOSED.

All on Account of Too Much Confidence in Fisk & Hatch.

NEWARK, N. J., May 16 .- The Newark Savings institution, which failed six years ago, closed its doors to-day. The bank failed four years ago, but was taken into the guardianship of chancery, which, instead of appointing a receiver, left the board of managers in control to settle up the old dobts and receive new deposits, which were to be invested only in government bonds and similar securities, in government bonds and similar securities, the investments to be specially for the benefit of the new deposits. The old deposits have realized 95 per cent, and there is enough money to pay the other 5 per cent. The new deposits have paid as income of 31 per cent, yearly. The bank makes the following statement of its present troubles:

statement of its present troubles:

The purchase of revernment bonds was intrusted to Firk & Hatch, who agreed to pay interest pending its investment of what money was in their hands. The wealth and reputation of this firm uniquality led to over confidence and carelessues about obtaining the meccasary investments, and so the time, has gone on until now it seems the firm owns the bank nearly $1,000.00. Besides this the box of securities of the bank, kept by the firm, which ought to hold government bonds only, has in their start bersonal property not of equal value, nor so readily salestic.

it is said that the firm had the right, so far as he bank officers could give it to them, to borrow and use these scourities, substituting for them liferest bonds of equal value, and now at the end comes a considerable loss. Yet it is believed by the best judges that in a little while the securities now in possession of the team, received by hem from the firm, will turn our equal to saving the depositors from any loss.

TESTING THE SAVINGS BANKS.

Numerous Runs on Several Institutions

But Few Failures. New York, May 16 .- The run on the Emigrant Industrial Savings bank had abated to-day, and business was being done the same as usual. About $160,000 was paid out yesterday, but depositors were returning their money to-day. There was no run on the Manhattan Savings institution.

At the Union Dime Savings bank only a few persons drew out their deposits. A crowd surrounded the Bleeker-street bank this morning. They were nearly all Italians, and the run is confined altogether to them. A number of persons drew out their deposits at the Bowery Savings bank to-day. There was no excitement there. There was no run on the Butchers' and Drovers' National bank, the Citizens' Saving bank, the Metropolitan Savings bank, Manhatan Savings institution, or the East River Savings institution, or the East River Savings ings institution, or the East River Savings bank. There was a run on the Scamen's Savings bank, but all deposits were paid on demand.

The excitement of yesterday at several of the Brooklyn banks had calmed to a considerable extent, and confidence in the Savings bank has been generally restored. There was nothing that could be called a run on any of the savings banks.

ATLANTA, GA., May 16.—John H. James, banker, announced last night that he would not open his doors to-day. He has control of real estate to the amount of half a million dollars, which he will offer for sale at once, and which will more than pay his inabilities. The associated banks and bankers of Atlanta met last night and tendered Mr. James assistance. He declined stating that he proferred to rely on his real estate, which would fully protect him. There was no run on his bank, and he closes out of abundant caution. The other banks are confident and have orgauized for mutual protection.

It was openly alleged that the stockholders had been fraudulently dealt with, and that all efforts to ascertain the assets of the company have been unsuccessful. The statement has been made that there was no indebtedness against the mills, but the stockholders could learn nothing definite. The stockholders yesterday were unsuimously in favor of sending an expert to examine the books, but they were deterred from so desing by the fact that other parties in Bridgeport, endeavoring to gain the same end, were, it is alleged, refused permission to examine the affairs of the company. ### WASHINGTON CUP DAY.

The Stands at Ivy City Filled with a Brilliant and Fashionable Assemblage,

Who Witness Some Fast and Exciting Races Estween Good Horses.

The Dake of Montalban Carries Off the Cup for the Second Time.

And Florio Confirms Her Excellence by Winning the Brentwood Stakes.

The spring meeting of the National Jockey elub ended yesterday in a blaze of glory, so to speak. The great attendance of Thursday was repeated, the stands being taxed to their utmost capacity to accommodate the brilliant and fashionable assemblage, while the inner field was again crowded with carriages. The track was in fine condition and the racing exciting and fast, the time for the cup being the best on record at Ivy City. The meeting has been a decided success financially and from a racing point of view. It is but simple justice to say that this is largely due to the experience, untiring labor, and good management of President McKibbin and Secretary McIntyre, ably seconded by Messrs. Clarence Hall, Hallet Kilbourn, James S. Edwards, and others of the executive committee. Encouraged by the substantial backing of the people of Washington, the managers of the club are considering the expediency of opening several new stakes for the autumn meeting of such value as to attract all the crack horses of the country.

The racing was somewhat sensational, the first and fifth events resulting in the success of rank outsiders, to the great joy of the lucky fielders who had bought the right mutuel tickets. The Texas horse Glondower was one of the beaten favorites for the fifth race, and his owner has certainly had a rough experience here, having lost largely on each race his horse started in. The first race had only three starters, with Mr. Doswell's colt Bullfield so great a favorite that to all appearances the race was as good. as settled before the start. But like many another "good thing" in racing it proved a great downfall for the backers of favorites. At the fall of the flag the horses went off together with Emma slightly in front of Mac, but the latter was in the lead by the time the quarter was reached. Soon after passing this point Mac's saddle slipped, so that his jockey could no longer assist him, and as Bullfield went to the front he fell back out of the race. Bullfield led past the half and three quarters, but when the turn into the stretch was reached Emma moved up and a desperate whipping race ensued which greatly delighted the crowd, and ended in the success of Emma by two lengths, Mac ten behind

The Brentwood stakes, for 2-year-olds, had eight starters, and was a repetition of the Youthful stakes, the three placed horses being the same. By taking up the panalty and winning in fast time from such a good field, Florio stamped herself a first class filly, and her future career will be watched with interest by all levers of a good horse. The start was fairly good, Petition rushing off with the lead, closely pursued by Florie and Telie Doe. She held her pride of place past the half, three-quarters, and well into the stretch, where Telie Dee and Florie closed up the latter coming on and winning in up, the latter coming on easy fashion by two lengths from Telie Doe, she three in front of Potition. The third event at three-quarter heats was productive of some fast and good racing between Nimrod and Mordaunt, Fitzpatrick's masterly riding on the former being greatly admired and contributed largely to the suc-cess of his mount. Chicadee led in the first heat until nearing the pool stands, where Nimrod, Polonia, and Mordaunt passed her, Polonia being in front mementarily opposite the pool stands, but Nimrod came away as soon as Fitzpatrick called on him, and starting off Mordaunt's rush, won nicely by a length, Polonis three lengths further behind. The second heat was a repetition of the first, except that Camillus was the leader until the quarter , where Nimrod and Mordaunt passed him and raced home together, Nimrod again winning by a length from Mordaunt, Camillus a fair third.

The race for the Washington cup followed. It was the first long-distance event of the year on the northern turf, and the chief race of the meeting. Duke of Montalban, who wen it last year, had been specially trained at New Orleans with the view of attempting the difficult feat of carrying it off the second year in succession, while Davis & Hall's fine old mare, Ella Warfield, had received a careful preparation, in the course of which she showed such form that taken in connection with her wellknown shility to go a distance, her owners were confident of her ability to win. This pair, Gov. Bowle's tough campaigner, Nettle, and W. L. Scott's splendid young mare, Blue Grass Bolle, were the starters, and the latter came very near affecting a great surprise. When the flag fell the quartette get off well together, and came down to the stand running so closely together that a ripple of applause ran along the stand as they passed by. Nettle, with a slight lead of Ella Warfield, ran in front for he first mile, with the Duke and Blue Grass Bello unning head and head behind them. As they came to the stand the second time Ella Warfield and Montalban moved up, the Ella Warfield and Montalban moved up, the pace being fast, and as they rushed past the stand, Warfield lead by a length as far in front of Nettle, who was beginning to show the effects of the pace at which he was being carried along. Rounding the turn the real racing began and by the time the half was reached the Dake and his head in front. Blue Grass field being now a close third. The race along the backstretch was fast and hot, but Warfield was plainly beaten before the three-quarter was reached. Here Blue Grass Belle began her run, and from the head of the stretch desperate race home that fairly electrified the vast assemblage was run, the Duke barrely winning by a short nose. He was plainly failing, and in a few lengths further Scott's elegant mare would have been in front, for she seemed able to go on any distance. However, the Duke got under the wire in time, and it will be many a day before an other herse will repeat his performance of winning the Washington cup two years in The fitti race, a dash of a mile and 100 yards, resulted in the success of Hine Hell after the two favorites had been disposed of

A Breach in Butler's Porty. CHICAGO, I.I., May 16,-The meeting of delegates to the anti-monopoly convention which nominated Gen. Butler for president, representing New York, Maryland, and District of Columbia, was held yesterday, and a protest was drawn up objecting to that ac-tion. The grounds of objection are that it was unwise to mane a candidate in advance of the action by other conventions, and contrary to the wishes of a true anti-monopolists country; that the convention was not a representative one. For these and other reasons the signers say they withdrew from the convention, and "in the name of the people of the United States" issue with their protest another anti-monopoly platform.

A pretty introductory to the cuveiling cor-emonies occurred last Sunday evening. At the close of the twitight service in the Memorial church the congregation gathered about the pedestal of the status to witness the dethe pedestal of the status to witness the de-posit of a copper bex in a block of granite weighing thirteen tons under the brouze fac-simile of the great reformer. A selt breeze played one or nature's selemn requients among the leaves of the surrounding trees and shrubbery as the voice of the paster was raised in prayer. The selemnity of the occasion was only dis-turbed as the metal box clauked chericasty against the interior of the great stone, which bore the simple words in raised letters, "Mar-tin Luther." Rev. Mr. Putler then said: "To the giery of God and to the houer of tin Luther." Rev. Mr. Butler then said: "To the glory of God and to the house of Martin Luther, the man of wisdom and courage and faith, when God raised up to restore to his people the pure word of the Lord, is s this massive monument feared by the grate ful lovers of truth and of the freedom which Christ brings to an enslaved lost world, memorial is to stand so long as the world standeth, in the capital of our republic, which but for God's work through Luther
